THE SCHOOL OF SOCIAL WORK AT ST. THOMAS UNIVERSITY

The St. Thomas University School of Social Work is committed to a politicized social work practice that is grounded in a structural approach to social work practice. This approach advances an awareness of broad and intersecting injustices caused by oppressive structures while preparing students to be effective and ethical practitioners. A central goal is that graduates are able to integrate vision, knowledge and skills for practice that may lead to social transformation toward a more equitable and just society. While seeking to develop and teach a politicized social work practice, we strive to remain open to new ideas, analyses, and realities that challenge and inform our ongoing efforts.

The mission reflects our core principles:

- To promote theoretical frameworks which address oppression in its multiple and intersecting forms;
- To foster the research and teaching of practice strategies which facilitate the empowerment of people and groups experiencing oppression; and
- To engage in ongoing critical reflection and analysis on our pedagogy and praxis as a School.

The vision of the Faculty of Social Work at STU is to provide students with a social work education predicated on a progressive view of society and social work practice; a vision that is true to the profession's fundamental values of humanitarianism and egalitarianism. Faculty supports a dialectical understanding of society in which social welfare and social work contain contradictory forces, both liberating and repressive. The strategy for structural social work is to maximize the emancipatory potential of social welfare and social work, while neutralizing or minimizing their repressive elements. We believe that the goal of structural social work involves alleviating the negative effects on people of an exploitive and alienating social order, while transforming the social conditions and structures that cause the negative effects.

FIELD EDUCATION

“Field Education is a critical and distinctive aspect of social work education and takes place in the context of field education practicums. The purpose of field education is to integrate theory and practice, enabling students to further develop, refine, and enhance the values, knowledge, and skills reflective of the core Learning Objectives” (CASWE-ACFTS Standards for Accreditation, 2021 p. 12).

The School of Social Work at St. Thomas University places a high value on facilitating quality field placements for all students. One of the ways we try to achieve this is through the faculty liaison role, which includes a minimum of three meetings with the student and their field supervisor.

The School of Social Work at St. Thomas University works collaboratively with our community partners and placement agencies. These partnerships are developed based on quality field placements, which may lead to joint research projects, program development and other collective work. Experience has shown that several factors can negatively impact field placements that are carried out in the place of employment, therefore, students will be required to complete field placements in an agency outside their place of employment.

DESCRIPTION OF ROLES

Field Education Coordinator

The field education coordinator provides leadership and is responsible for the development, coordination, administration and management of field education. The role also includes consultation and teaching regarding field education for faculty, field supervisors, agencies and students.

Responsibilities include:

1. Ongoing development of field placements by:
 - a. initiating and creating linkages with community agencies;
 - b. reviewing agency policies and programs to ensure that students are provided with learning opportunities that are compatible with the values and principles of the social work profession;
 - c. working cooperatively with agencies to develop, enlarge, and improve existing field placement opportunities;
 - d. engaging students and field supervisors to participate in a review and assessment of the field placement.
2. Development and administration of field education policies and procedures by:
 - a. establishing clearly written policies on roles, attendance, practicum requirements, sexual harassment, discrimination, competency credit, confidentiality, appeal processes, etc.;
 - b. developing guidelines and tools for the evaluation of students and the on-going evaluation of field supervisors and field placements;
 - c. consulting with students, faculty, and agency staff whenever disputes occur regarding policy violation or misconduct;
 - d. providing mediation in situations where disputes are unresolved.
3. Development and implementation of educational events for faculty, field supervisors, and students pertaining to field education by:
 - a. conducting orientation sessions for students and field supervisors before field placements begin;
 - b. planning seminars and workshops for field supervisors;
 - c. distributing of updated field education information.
4. Development and implementation of the field placement selection process by:
 - a. carrying out an orientation meeting for students on the field instruction program;
 - b. providing information on available field placement options;
 - c. making matches in collaboration with agencies;
 - d. consulting with students, field supervisors, and faculty liaison when issues arise that raise questions about the suitability of the match.
5. Chair of the Field Education Advisory Committee
 - a. planning and chairing meetings a minimum of 3 meetings per year;
 - b. circulating minutes and agenda;
 - c. consulting with director and faculty of the School of Social Work.
6. Liaising with university administration in the development of field curricula, grading practices, workload credit and budget requirements for the field program.

7. Participation as a member of the field education network that meets annually at the CASWE meetings. The field education coordinator may be active in any education or research projects initiated by this network.
8. Establishment of a comprehensive field education program evaluation that would occur whenever the school is completing the self-study for accreditation purposes.

Field supervisor and the Agency

The field supervisor is usually a social worker employed by the host agency who meets the criteria as set out by the program and has primary responsibility for the students' field educational experience; that is, field assignments, supervision, and student evaluation. The field supervisors are chosen by the field placement setting to fulfil that role and/or may volunteer to the field education coordinator directly. Field supervisors cannot be friends, family members, or employers of the student they supervise in placement

Expectations of the Field Supervisor:

1. Provides pre-placement interviews with student when requested.
2. Provides the student with an orientation to the agency and staff, its policies, programs and practices (hours, dress code, absence due to illness); and to the project goals and strategies.
3. Assigns learning opportunities to the student to meet the learning needs of the student(s).
4. Participates in educational or field instruction preparation workshops and meetings with the faculty liaison.
5. Provides day to day supervision, feedback and support to the student.
6. Participates in the students' Learning Contract, Mid-Term, and Final Evaluation Meetings.
7. Prepares a Mid-Term and Final Evaluation in collaboration with the student to be shared at the Mid-Term and final meetings.
8. Engages in consultation with the faculty liaison during the field placement and notifies/consults with the faculty liaison whenever concerns arise with respect to the student performance.
9. Ensures that the CASW Code of Ethics, Values and Guiding Principles (2024) are always upheld by the student.
10. Has the responsibility to adhere to and uphold principles of the NB Human Rights Section 6 of the Human Rights Act, they have a legal obligation to accommodate students with a disability short of undue hardship.

Expectations of the Placement Agency

1. Accepts the student without discrimination as defined by the Charter of Rights and Freedoms and provincial human rights legislation; ensuring that the placement is free of discriminatory practices both in personnel practices and in delivery of services.
2. Participates in the matching process by interviewing interested students and assessing if they would be a good fit.
3. Informs the faculty liaison as soon as possible if there are any serious concerns or problems impacting the placement and collaborate in problem-solving to find acceptable solutions.

Faculty Liaison

The faculty liaison is responsible for liaising with students and their field supervisor, for providing the link between a field placement setting, and the faculty, and ensuring effective three-way communication. The role includes coordination, collaboration, enrichment and quality assurance responsibilities with the field supervisor and students.

Expectations of the Faculty Liaison

1. Attend educational workshops provided by the School on field instruction.
2. Become familiar with the policies and practices as outlined in the Field Instruction Handbook.
3. Facilitate a meeting to review the Learning Contract as established by the student and their field supervisor and provide feedback on the draft. Review any changes, if needed, before all parties sign off on the document.
4. Clarify the School's expectations about students' learning, workload and evaluation requirements.
5. Assist the student to make links between field experiences and program curriculum and provide support to the student in their professional growth and development.
6. Assist and support field supervisor in developing a teaching role that empowers students as learners.
7. Mediate conflicts and/or challenges that arise between students and their field supervisor by attending or arranging meetings that may be necessary to resolve problems. These meetings should be held at the earliest sign of difficulty.
8. Facilitate the Mid-Term Review Meeting by reviewing progress on the student's Learning Objectives and by discussing feedback from Mid-Term Evaluation Form that is completed by the field supervisor and students. Explore if there are any concerns that need to be addressed in order for the student to pass the field placement.
9. Ensure that written notification is given to a student when it appears that they may be asked to withdraw because of inadequate performance.
10. Facilitate the Final Evaluation Meeting, which includes a discussion of the Final Evaluation report completed by the field supervisor and student.
11. Establish a final grade of Pass or Fail for the field placement in consultation with the field supervisor and student.
12. Write the student's Final Evaluation in instances where the field placement requires faculty-based field instruction.

Student

Student learners engage in many activities and experiences which result in considerable personal and professional growth and add value to the work of an agency. The role of the students is defined more specifically through responsibilities that they are expected to assume in preparation for, and during, their field placement.

Expectations of the Student

1. Follow directions provided by the field education coordinator regarding placement selection.
2. Attend a pre-placement visit if requested to do so.
3. Attend any orientation sessions scheduled prior to beginning the field placement and become familiar with the Field Instruction Handbook.

4. Attend agency orientation activities, training sessions, and/or staff meetings as requested by the field supervisor.
5. Identify Learning Objectives and participate in establishing a Learning Contract with the agency field supervisor and the faculty liaison.
6. Apply social work values and abide by the CASW Code of Ethics, Values and Guiding Principles (2024) at all times, act in a professional manner as a representative of the agency, and sign the Confidentiality Agreement.
7. Work within the established policies and guidelines of the agency.
8. Actively participate with the field supervisor and faculty liaison to review and analyse learning experiences.
9. Promptly notify the field supervisor and faculty liaison in case of unavoidable absence.
10. Contact the faculty liaison regarding any problems with the field setting; it is imperative that the students seek assistance at the onset of any problem.
11. Recognize the fact that failure to meet the requirements of the field placement, as set forth in this handbook, may result in their withdrawal from the field placement.
12. Be prepared for the three formal meetings with the field supervisor and faculty liaison: Learning Contract Meeting, Mid-Term Review and Final Evaluation.

SCWK 5059: FIELD INSTRUCTION III - Foundational Year Placement

The two-year MSW Program is designed to meet the needs of students who have earned a four-year undergraduate degree other than Social Work. The field placements are part of the required core courses for the MSW degree. This initial placement is the Foundational Field Placement, and it focuses on equipping students with essential knowledge, values, and skills necessary for general social work practice. Foundational social work placements typically include a variety of activities designed to provide students with a broad understanding of social work practice and help develop essential skills. The second placement is the Advanced Placement, which builds upon that foundation toward advanced social work practice.

The focus throughout the Foundational Field Placement is on the integration of classroom and field learning. The goal of the Foundational Field Placement is to offer students a professionally supervised experience in which they will demonstrate foundational knowledge regarding social issues and the role of structural social work in the community. Students will be under the supervision of a faculty member in partnership with agency personnel.

Common activities that foundational social work placements may include:

1. Advocacy and Public Awareness - Participating in advocacy projects or campaigns to raise awareness about social issues and promote social justice. Engaging in public speaking opportunities, such as presenting at community events or agency meetings.

2. Community Engagement - Participation in community outreach activities, such as attending community meetings, distributing informational materials, and engaging with community members. Building relationships with community partners and stakeholders through networking opportunities.
3. Program Development and Evaluation - Assisting with community needs assessments to identify gaps in services and areas for improvement. Contributing to the development and planning of new programs or initiatives at the agency. Participating in the evaluation of existing programs and services at the agency to assess their effectiveness and impact.
4. Research and Policy Analysis - Conducting literature reviews on topics relevant to the agency. Analyzing policies that affect the agency's work and its clients and developing policy briefs or advocacy materials.
5. Observation - Observing experienced social workers and other professionals during client interactions, meetings, and community events. Observing and participating in interdisciplinary meetings to understand the roles of different professionals.
6. Client and Case Management Support - Assisting with client intake processes and initial assessments under supervision. Identifying and referring clients to appropriate resources and services within the community. Assisting with the facilitation of support groups or educational workshops for clients.
7. Documentation - Practice writing reports, case notes, and other documentation in accordance with agency standards.
8. Professional Development - Attending professional conferences, seminars, and webinars to stay informed about current trends and issues related to the placement agency. Participating in networking events to connect with other social work professionals and organizations.

By engaging in these activities, students gain a well-rounded experience intended to prepare them for the diverse and multifaceted nature of social work practice.

The field education coordinator will make every attempt to match students based on their learning needs and interests; however, the ultimate decision regarding where students will do their placements rests with agencies. If more than one student wishes to be considered for the same placement, agencies may request interviews with students, or may make their selection based on resumes and cover letter details only.

Students will be assigned to an approved field setting, five days per week, for a minimum of 450 placement hours, under the supervision of a social work field supervisor.

FOUNDATIONAL YEAR PLACEMENT SELECTION PROCESS

Students submit a completed information form to the field education coordinator outlining experience and areas of interest for this foundational placement. The field education coordinator matches students to their placement based on their previous experience, areas of interest, and availability in the region. Students may be asked by the potential placement agency to interview prior to confirmation of placement (based on agency preference).

The selection of placements is initiated by the field education coordinator, based on the parameters of the School. When planning for student placements, the field education coordinator considers:

- The student's area of interest.

- The student's ability to meet agency/role requirements.
- The learning needs of the student.
- The region in which the student wishes to complete their placement.
- Opportunities available in the agency/role to develop skills and knowledge in social work knowledge and practice.
- Agencies available to provide placements that meet the parameters of the program.

Being placed at a particular agency or in a particular role by the School cannot be guaranteed. Placements are based on student learning, previous experience, and availability of agencies/supervisors that meet the program parameters. Students should not contact agencies directly to inquire about placements as this can complicate the placement process. Many organizations have a specific contact for placements, the School has processes that can vary depending on the potential placement agency's requirements, and to be fair when multiple students are interested in a single placement position. Like most Schools of Social Work, STU uses a collaborative process working with students to explore agencies that meet our program requirements and the CASWE Standards for Accreditation.

To support our community partners, the School of Social Work prioritizes field placements within New Brunswick. Recognizing that some students reside outside the province, we can facilitate placements in Nova Scotia or Prince Edward Island. The field education coordinator will initiate contact and work to secure these placements, however students are expected to identify potential agencies in their home provinces.

PLACEMENT HOURS AND ATTENDANCE

According to the accreditation standards set by the Canadian Association of Social Work Education (CASWE), students enrolled in an accredited MSW program without a BSW must complete a foundational level practicum of 450 practice hours in the field of social work. While 450 hours is the minimum requirement for the Foundational Year Placement, students must complete their 450 hours within the dates provided by the field education coordinator; students are not permitted to complete their placements early. The start and end dates for placement should be treated like the start and end dates for any academic course.

Each student is responsible for keeping track of their own hours using the Log of Hours spreadsheet distributed electronically by the field education coordinator. Students must submit this spreadsheet to their faculty liaison once the placement concludes. Students are in placement according to their host agency's hours. For example, if the agency's hours of operation are Monday-Friday, 8:30 AM – 4:30 PM, then students will begin at 8:30 AM and end at 4:30 PM. Some placements may involve after-hours tasks on occasion. Agencies should inform students and the field education coordinator of their hours of operation and if any after-hours tasks will be required before the placement is finalized. Students must deduct time to account for lunch breaks where they are not engaged in placement activities to adhere to CASWE accreditation standards.

We ask that students not spend more than 40 hours in placement in one week, to reduce the risk of burnout and to ensure there is adequate time for processing information. If a student does accrue "overtime" placement hours in a given week, their schedule for the following week should be adjusted accordingly.

If a student is going to be absent from their placement, they will inform both their faculty liaison and their field supervisor at their earliest availability. The faculty liaison, student, and field supervisor will develop a plan for how the student is to make up any time missed. The student is still responsible for any missed time due to illness or emergencies to fulfill the CASWE accreditation requirements.

REQUESTS FOR ACCOMMODATION

Student Accessibility Services at STU provides individualized accommodations and support to help reduce barriers in both the classroom and field placements. Students who may require accommodations for their field placement are strongly encouraged to connect with Accessibility Services to ensure that appropriate supports can be explored and arranged in advance.

Students requiring reasonable accommodations during field placements are encouraged to discuss these needs with the Student Accessibility Services as soon as possible in the placement selection process. Recommended field placement accommodations created with Accessibility Services will be shared with the field education coordinator and may need to be shared with the faculty liaison and potential field supervisors/agencies to effectively facilitate them. The field education coordinator, faculty liaison, and field supervisors are not asking for any disclosure of medical or personal information regarding accommodations.

If the need for reasonable accommodations occurs during the field placement, students are encouraged to contact either STU Accessibility Services or their faculty liaison for support.

PLACEMENT DEVELOPMENT HOURS

To create some flexibility and to support student health/mental health during placement, students may complete several in person and virtual learning activities by the end of placement and ‘bank’ these hours for later use in the placement. These activities are not to be completed during placement hours.

The field education coordinator will provide the Placement Development Hours Acknowledgment form to students, faculty liaisons, and field supervisors prior to the start of placement outlining approved activities. The ‘banked’ hours can be taken off anytime during the placement, as sick days, or as personal days. These days should be scheduled and approved by the field supervisor in advance and planned at a time when there is the least disruption to the student’s agency or placement experience whenever possible.

OVERVIEW OF SCWK 5059: FIELD INSTRUCTION III (Foundational Year Placement) – 450 hours

Description and Key Elements

In addition to the Learning Objectives that will be outlined by each student in their Learning

Contract, the School of Social Work has outlined the following Learning Objectives for students engaged in their field placement:

Personal Effectiveness

By the end of this placement, students should demonstrate the ability to:

- Understand and critically evaluate relationship skills in working with clients, and confidence in establishing and developing professional relationships.
- Assume major responsibility for the development of life skills as they affect professional practice.
- Assume major responsibility for professional development by recognizing one's strengths, opportunities for growth, and values and recognizing how this personal dimension affects one's practice.
- Communicate thoughts and feelings and to listen to others effectively.
- Learn new skills and to evaluate one's own practice.

Organizational Effectiveness

By the end of this placement, students should demonstrate the ability to:

- Work effectively in a learning setting, which approximates as closely as possible a beginning professional work experience.
- Establish and maintain relationships with colleagues and staff in the practice setting as well as colleagues from various disciplines as relevant to the practice setting.
- Participate successfully in supervision, consultation and other administrative processes.
- Understand and critically evaluate the service network relevant to the client constituency.
- Personal work management skills.
- Responsibility to act on behalf of a group, organization, or agency.
- Understand, interpret, and implement the policies and practices of the agency on behalf of the client constituency.

Professional Effectiveness

By the end of this placement, students should demonstrate the ability to:

- Complete a thorough analysis of a problem including the personal, cultural, societal, and economic factors influencing it.
- Develop a contract for appropriate intervention, including the goal(s) of the intervention and tasks to be undertaken.
- Evaluate effectiveness of intervention, and/or to modify intervention plans as needed.
- Communicate effectively in verbal and written form, and to conceptualize their practice.
- Understand the use of research in practice.
- Demonstrate an understanding of the profession, and identification with its activities, ethics, and interaction with other professions.

Evaluation

The marking system for field placements is either a Pass or a Fail grade. Formal evaluations will take place at the Mid-Term and Final Evaluation Meetings.

- At the Mid-Term, the student, field supervisor and faculty liaison will review the student's work using the Mid-Term Skills Evaluation Form provided and will also review the progress made on the Learning Contract.

- The Final Evaluation will be based on a sharing and discussion of the student's Learning Paper and the field supervisor's written Final Evaluation. This will also include a review of the student's Learning Contract with the intent to identify opportunities for future development.

MAJOR ASSIGNMENTS & REQUIREMENTS AT-A-GLANCE

Assignment/Requirement	Date/Time	Location
On-site Orientation	Beginning of placement	Agency
Learning Contract Meeting	Contract components to be completed within first 2-3 weeks of placement. Student & field supervisor complete the Learning Contract prior to meeting with the faculty liaison. Meeting date to be set by the faculty liaison and field supervisor/supervisor.	The host agency (unless otherwise specified).
Mid-Term Evaluation Meeting	TBD by faculty liaison and field supervisor (roughly around weeks 7-9) Student & field supervisor complete the Mid-Term Evaluation Form prior to Meeting & Review of Learning Contract	The host agency (unless otherwise specified).
Final Evaluation Meeting	Final Evaluation (written by student and field supervisor) and Final Learning Paper (written by student) to be completed before Final Evaluation Meeting (final weeks of placement). Meeting date to be set by the faculty liaison and field supervisor.	The host agency (unless otherwise specified).

ASSIGNMENTS AND EXPECTATIONS

Beginning Phase: Overview of Assignments and Requirements

During the beginning phase of the Foundational Year Placement, students and field supervisors are expected to engage in the following activities:

- a) Agency-based orientation to the agency staff, policies and services/programs offered;
- b) Clarification of the student's and field supervisor's roles and expectations with respect to the placement;
- c) Development of the Learning Contract (more details below);
- d) Learning Contract Meeting—meeting date to be arranged between field supervisor, student and faculty liaison.

The Learning Contract

Although there are educational objectives identified in the course outline for the Foundational Year Placement, it is important that all students identify their own individualized Learning Objectives. These Learning Objectives become central to the Learning Contract that each student develops in their field placement and is used as a road map in the learning process.

The main purpose of the Learning Contract is summarized in the following objectives:

1. To further clarify and specify the responsibilities of the student and the field supervisor in the field placement.
2. To design and implement an individualized educational plan for each student.
3. To provide a means by which students can influence how and what they learn.
4. To learn skills in identifying one's own professional needs and undertaking to meet these.
5. To facilitate the field supervisor's role in supervision by providing a practical tool for supervision.
6. To facilitate on-going evaluation of the student's learning.

The Learning Contract will be:

- central to the first stage of the field placement, which is focused on assessing the student's needs and identifying a plan of action for learning;
- the main focus of the first meeting with the faculty liaison, which will occur before the end of the fourth week of field placements. Thus, students are expected to have the first draft of the Learning Contract ready for this meeting;
- used as an on-going tool for supervision of the student's work, and for teaching/feedback purposes;
- used in conjunction with the Mid-Term Evaluation Form at the Mid-Term Evaluation. This will greatly assist in reviewing the student's work, noting progress and whether or not changes should be made in the contract; and
- reviewed at the Final Evaluation in order to assess overall skill attainment and to assist in establishing a grade.

Components of the Learning Contract

- Supervision Arrangements: Students and field supervisors will determine the frequency with which they will meet, and the format of meetings (e.g., how many individual, group meetings, etc.). Supervision should be occurring at least weekly.

- Expectations of the Students: Students and field supervisors will determine what type of documentation of learning is expected of students in order to assess the work/learning (e.g., journals, task logs, direct observation, correspondence, summaries, etc.)
- Learning Opportunities: This refers to all the activities, experiences and assignments available in the agency, which would help the students to learn the identified skills. Brainstorming of activities carried out by the social workers in your field placement setting can be a useful exercise to assist you with this component of the Learning Contract.
- Learning Objectives: Learning Objectives outline in writing what the students wants to learn in their field placement and allows them to focus some attention on their particular areas of interest or learning needs. Each student is required to develop at least two Learning Objectives in each of the following three levels of learning: 1) knowledge, 2) skills, and 3) personal development. Skills need to be worded in behavioral terms, and be measurable, specific and attainable.

Writing Learning Objectives

The following pages will help students in the development of their Learning Objectives for the Foundational Year field placement. Field supervisors can assist students in the development of these objectives where appropriate; however, much of the work should be the student's responsibility.

There are three levels of objectives. Please identify at least two specific Learning Objectives under each of the three levels in your Learning Contract.

1. Knowledge (content)
2. Skill (ability/integration of knowledge into action)
3. Personal Development (self-awareness, ability)

KNOWLEDGE

agency mandate policies/procedures treatment model
social problems
community resources

SKILLS

interviewing work habits
time management group work
use of supervision

PERSONAL

assertiveness
self-appraisal
self-care/coping strategies self-awareness
integration of values

Each Learning Objective should include three parts and the sequence should look like:

- a. A goal/objective statement (to....verb...) that you wish to achieve related to knowledge acquisition, skill and/or personal development
- b. The learning opportunities are the activities or tasks that describe how the objective will be achieved.
- c. Evidence of accomplishment refers to what it would look like if you achieved the objective.

Example:

(a. objective statement) To develop skills in writing persuasive op-ed articles to advocate for universal basic income and influence public opinion...

(b. activities, tasks to accomplish the objective) ...by studying examples of effective op-ed articles related to social issues; conducting research to gather facts, statistics, and personal stories related to universal basic income; and drafting, revising, and receiving feedback from my supervisor on the drafted op-ed article.

(c. evidence of accomplishment) By the end of the field placement I will have completed a well-researched and persuasive op-ed article with positive feedback from my supervisor and will submit to the NB Media Co-op for potential publication.

Verbs that may assist in writing objectives:

increase	identify	practice	distinguish	review	research
acquire	develop	network	promote	carry out	explore

Evidence of Accomplishments

The purpose of this part of the learning objective is to inform the field supervisor and faculty liaison, in descriptive terms, what the student is trying to attain. In naming the evidence of accomplishment, the student further clarifies the degree of knowledge, skill development and personal development they are intending to achieve. This ensures a much clearer picture of what the student is trying to achieve for everyone involved. This is entirely in the student's control as long as the Learning Contract is relevant to the field placement and also addresses increased competence for practice. Each student is unique and has varying levels of knowledge and skill development when beginning their field placement. Therefore, the same learning objective may have a different meaning and intended outcome for each student.

Criteria for Writing a Learning Objective

Before embarking on an objective related to a learning situation, it is helpful to test the proposed goal or objective against the following criteria:

1. Relevance (Is it Relevant?)
The objective should be based on real needs. It should be in complete touch with the life, interaction, present movement, and experience of the agency/service user.
2. Clarity (Is it Clear?)
Avoid double or multiple statements that tend to split attention and concern. Too many modifying clauses suggest a lack of clear intention. The statement should be one, direct, simple statement.
3. Attainability (Is it Attainable?)
An objective should be possible to accomplish. Ask yourself, 'Can it be done?' If you haven't the resources to carry out the objective or can't get them, start over and prepare a new (more realistic) statement of objective.
4. Specificity (Is it Specific?)

The objective should deal with specifics rather than general and vague problems, needs or learning areas.

5. Measurability (It is Measurable?)

A statement of objective should contain within it some indication of the standards of measurement by which the participants and/or planners will be able to tell whether or not it has been achieved.

6. Behaviorally-oriented (Is it Behavioral?)

While beliefs, knowledge, attitudes and skills can all be changed, they have not really been learned until they have been internalized and become a part of the person in such a way that they are demonstrated in specific behaviors that can actually be observed.

Examples of Non-specific and Specific Behavioral Change / Personal Learning Goals

Non-specific & Unmeasurable Objective (Uses Subjective Evaluation)	Behavioral, Specific & Measurable Objective (Uses Objective Evaluation)
To become more confident.	I will express my opinions verbally at least once during each session of this week's program in order to gain more confidence in group discussion.
To become a better listener.	In order to improve my listening skills, I will be deliberately attentive to every member and write down at day's end one key point expressed by each person during the day.
To stop interrupting people.	I will ask a particular group member to give me spontaneous feedback any time they observe me interrupting or distracting others.
To improve my feedback technique.	In order to improve my feedback skills, I will contract with another group member to meet after each session for ten minutes for giving and receiving feedback on our respective performance during the session.
To be aware of my daily learnings.	In order to sharpen my skills and awareness in identifying learnings, I will spend five minutes after each program session listing key learnings from the experience in my personal logbook.

Reflection on Learning Objectives

Imagine that you are at the point of ending this field placement, what would you want to have learned about:

1. Knowledge - What area of knowledge would you like to be more aware of at your placement? Try to be specific. You can start with a broad statement and then break it down into smaller parts.

2. Skills - What skills would you like to be able to develop or improve before beginning your social work first job? What would you be doing differently with clients, colleagues, or supervisors if you achieve this skill development?
3. Personal Development - What areas of personal growth and development would you like to strengthen during your field placement? In your imagination, if you had achieved this goal, what would that look like in your attitude and behavior by the end of the placement?

Example of Learning Objectives in a Student's Learning Contract

Knowledge:

- a. To explore information regarding the social problems single parents are facing through a structural social work lens.
 - b. I will meaningfully use the resources available (STU library, free online journals, agency staff) to research the issue and I will complete a jurisdictional scan of agencies working with single parents in the region.
 - c. At the end of the field placement, I will have a greater understanding of the social problems that affect single parents and will have documented this learning in my journals. I will also have discussed this with my field supervisor to make connections to systemic factors.
- a. To acquire more information about attachment disorders in children.
 - b. I will meaningfully use the resources available (STU library, free online journals, agency staff) and watch a three-hour online webinar. I will also be potentially meeting children with attachment disorders and their parent/guardian.
 - c. At the end of the placement, I will have the ability to define Reactive Attachment Disorder and information surrounding this disorder such as causes, symptoms, and treatments. I will document this learning through individual journal writing and discussions with my field supervisor.
- a. To identify different community resources that are interconnected as a support network for children.
 - b. I will do this by talking with the Executive Director and caseworker about different resources they see as interconnected with Big Brothers Big Sisters.
 - c. At the end of the placement, I will be able to identify community resources that form together a child's support network and will create a resource guide for the agency.

Skills:

- a. To enhance knowledge about the role of media in shaping public perceptions of problems single parents face.
- b. I will attend a 3-hour workshop on media literacy and its impact on social justice. I will also engage in discussions and reflections with my field supervisor on current media portrayals of social justice issues.
- c. By the Mid-Term, I will be able to critically analyze media sources for bias and representation and engage in discussion with my field supervisor and other agency staff about this.

- a. To develop skills in writing persuasive op-ed articles to advocate for gaps in services to be addressed and to influence public opinion.
 - b. I will do this by studying examples of effective op-ed articles related to social issues; conducting research to gather facts, statistics, and personal stories related to problems single parents face; and drafting, revising, and receiving feedback from my field supervisor on the drafted op-ed article.
 - c. By the end of the field placement, I will have completed a well-researched and persuasive op-ed article with positive feedback from my field supervisor and will submit to the NB Media Co-op for potential publication.
- a. To develop skills in evaluating the effectiveness of programs and initiatives within the field placement agency.
 - b. I will assist agency staff in collecting and analyzing data related to program outcomes and impacts and I will contribute to writing an evaluation report on our findings.
 - c. By the end of the placement, I will have completed a program evaluation report with detailed analysis and recommendations with positive feedback from my field supervisor on the quality and accuracy of the document.

Personal Development:

- a. To improve confidence with public speaking by facilitating a brief presentation to staff at the placement.
 - b. I will be able to increase confidence through researching attachment disorders in children by reading “When Love is Not Enough: A guide to parenting children with Reactive Attachment Disorder” as listed above and then put together a thirty-minute presentation for staff from the book.
 - c. Before the end of the field placement, I will be able to present the material without a shaking voice; making eye contact with the audience; and being able to fully engage in facilitating the materials and a Q & A without being distracted by nerves.
- a. To improve assertiveness.
 - b. I will be able to do this by having an active voice during supervision and interacting professionally with staff at the agency.
 - c. At the end of the field placement, I will be able to interact with staff in an honest and respectful way. I will be able to stand up for my own rights and other people’s rights in a reasonable and clear way and this will be noted by my field supervisor.
- a. To develop self-care practices for the current field placement and future employment.
 - b. I will carry out this task by practicing skills such as leaving “work at work” and writing learning journals to allow processing of thoughts and feelings.
 - c. At the end of the field placement, I will be able to have a difficult experience and instead of taking that feeling home, I will write about it in a learning journal and do at least one activity at home that allows me to relax or have fun.

Mid-Term Phase: Overview of Assignments and Requirements

By the second phase of the Foundational Year Placement, students are often gaining confidence in their skills and abilities as a result of feedback and practice but may still be experiencing some doubt. It is important that, by the Mid-Term, students begin to perform some tasks independently. The field supervisor and the student can discuss which tasks seem appropriate to perform independently, given the students' skill and confidence levels, and the nature of the work being performed. The wellbeing of the agency's service users should be prioritized when making such decisions.

This phase is also a time for reflection upon what has been accomplished so far in terms of skill building and the meeting of Learning Objectives outlined in the Learning Contract. Both the Mid-Term Evaluation Form and the Mid-Term Meeting with the student, field supervisor, and faculty liaison provide an opportunity to assess where the student is at in their learning, and to discuss the next steps for the duration of the placement.

Overview of Assignments and Requirements:

- a) Continue to perform assigned tasks and duties in consultation with the field supervisor.
- b) Prepare for the Mid-Term Evaluation Meeting by completing the Mid-Term Evaluation Form.
- c) Attend the Mid-Term Evaluation Meeting with the field supervisor and faculty liaison.

Mid-Term Evaluation

Step 1: Completing the Mid-Term Evaluation Form

The agency field supervisor and the student complete the Mid-Term Evaluation Form together prior to the Mid-Term Meeting with the faculty liaison and submit it to the faculty liaison prior to the meeting.

Step 2: Attending the Mid-Term Evaluation Meeting

The faculty liaison will contact the field supervisor and student to set up a meeting time to review the Mid-Term Evaluation. The faculty liaison will facilitate conversation on the student's progress to-date on their Learning Objectives, and all parties will identify areas for further growth in the remainder of the placement. The faculty liaison, field supervisor, and student will complete the mid-term evaluation summary form.

Final Phase: Overview of Assignments and Requirements

By the final phase of the Foundational Year Placement, students have begun to accomplish many of their Learning Objectives and are now aware of areas to continue to work on for the duration of the placement. They have had their Mid-Term Evaluation and are most likely working independently a great deal of the time (depending on their comfort level and the nature of work being performed in the agency). At the beginning of the final phase, students may experience a dip in their confidence as they begin taking on new responsibilities in their placements. With time and feedback from field supervisors, students will begin to integrate the skills they are learning into their practice.

Overview of Assignments and Requirements

- a) Continue to perform assigned tasks in consultation with the field supervisor.
- b) Complete the Final Learning Paper to be sent to the faculty liaison prior to the Final Evaluation Meeting.
- c) A Final Evaluation Form to be completed by the field supervisor and student using the guidelines in this handbook.
- d) Attend the Final Evaluation Meeting with the field supervisor and faculty liaison to discuss the Final Learning Paper and the Final Evaluation Form.

The Final Evaluation Meeting

The faculty liaison will set a time for the Final Evaluation Meeting with the field supervisor and student. In advance of this meeting, the student completes the Final Learning Paper, and the field supervisor and student complete a Final Evaluation. The student and field supervisor will discuss the contents of each of these written documents in advance of the meeting. The Final Evaluation Meeting will be a discussion of the learning, strengths, and areas for further development demonstrated by the student during the placement.

Student Learning Paper

The Final Learning Paper must be ready for review prior to the Final Evaluation Meeting scheduled with the faculty liaison and field supervisor.

Purpose of the Learning Paper

This paper is intended as a vehicle to help you reflect on your learning from this field placement and to look at how this learning might guide your professional practice and the continuation of your learning in the MSW program.

Content of the Final Learning Paper (Assignment Guidelines) – 5-6 pages

1. Learning Experiences – Identify 5-6 key activities and learning opportunities from your placement and their significance in the context of structural social work. Outline what you learned from these key activities/learning opportunities about yourself and about structural social work practice. This may include knowledge, awareness, or skills. Reflect back on your Learning Objectives and speak to these specifically.
2. Discuss how the experiences and insights gained will inform your future practice as a structural social worker. Indicate how your learning might be generalized to other practice settings when you leave the program.
3. Strengths - Outline what you feel your major strengths are at this point in your development.
4. Areas for Development - Outline what you feel are areas for development in social work practice. This may include knowledge, skill or awareness goals.

POLICIES

A full listing of all School of Social Work policies can be found here:

<https://www.stu.ca/socialwork/policies/>

CRIMINAL RECORDS CHECK

Social Service Agencies that host students for field placements require a criminal records check document (CPIC) most of the time. The School of Social Work requires students to obtain a criminal record check document from the police, and to give it to the administrative coordinator for filing until it is requested by the agency. The check can be no more than one year old when the placement begins (beginning of April at the end of the first year). This must be completed at least two months before placement begins and a copy given to the administrative coordinator. Cost for this process is the responsibility of the student. If you have any questions regarding this requirement, please contact the field education coordinator.

INSURANCE

Liability Insurance Policy

All social work students who are engaged in any activity related to their field placements are covered by the University's liability Insurance. The University's Errors and Omissions Liability Policy, among other coverage, covers students in accordance with the following clause:

"any person while registered as a student, undergraduate or otherwise, at the Named Insured, in respect of any activity related to the discipline in which so registered, in the furtherance of his or her education or training in such discipline, whether conducted on or off campus".

Field placement host agencies are also expected to maintain, at their own expense, Comprehensive General Liability insurance and/or Professional Liability insurance for their own personnel.

Worker's Compensation Insurance

Students completing a field placement must be provided with additional coverage in the event of accidental injury incurred during the placement through WorkSafe NB. The School of Social Work will register each student at an approved field placement with WorkSafe NB. Student's Social Insurance Number will be requested by the field education coordinator prior to commencement of the field placement so that St. Thomas University can assume the students under its coverage with WorkSafe NB.

CONFIDENTIAL INFORMATION

Students shall not share any confidential information about the School of Social Work or its staff, faculty, field agencies or their members. At the beginning of placement students will sign the School of Social Work's Policy on Confidentiality providing the agency/field supervisor with the original and the faculty liaison with a copy of the signed form.

If students have any questions or are unsure about whether information is confidential or public, it is important to speak with a field supervisor, the field education coordinator, and/or a faculty member before releasing information that may reflect negatively on the social work profession, the School of Social Work, its staff, faculty, field agencies or their members, or students in the social work program. Students should always seek permission before they post information about a third party on public social media. Please review the School's policy on Social and Electronic Media.

FIELD PLACEMENT CHALLENGES

Any behaviour which may cause the field supervisor or student to question the achievement of professional development and student learning should prompt a review of the situation in its total context. If challenges or problems arise once the placement has begun, then the student and field supervisor should attempt to resolve the issue and reach out to the faculty liaison for consultation and/or mediation as soon as possible. If a mutually agreeable resolution cannot be reached, then the field education coordinator will become involved and the director may be notified.

Concern identified by field supervisor:

- Field supervisor will immediately share the concern with the student.
- Field supervisor will contact the faculty liaison for consultation and/or mediation.
- Student and field supervisor will attempt to achieve a mutual agreement with new or revised Learning Objectives to be included in the Learning Contract.

Concern identified by student:

- Student will immediately share the concern with the field supervisor, being clear about learning needs.
- Student will contact the faculty liaison for consultation and/or mediation.
- Student and field supervisor will attempt to achieve a mutual agreement with new or revised Learning Objectives to be included in the Learning Contract.

In extraordinary cases, a host agency and/or the School may terminate a placement, after consultation with the field education coordinator, if there is serious concern and/or when parties are unable to reach an agreeable resolution. The director may become involved as needed. In consultation with the student and other relevant parties, the field education coordinator will determine if a new placement agency will be sought immediately for the student, or if they will need to wait until the course is offered again.

Indicators of concern in field placement (not an exhaustive list):

1. Professional Conduct and Boundaries

- Persistent unprofessional or inappropriate behaviour in the placement setting.
- Use of judgmental, dismissive, or emotionally reactive communication.
- Breaches of confidentiality or inappropriate boundary-setting.

- Demonstration of bias, favouritism, or discriminatory attitudes.
2. Collaboration and Organizational Practice
 - Difficulty working collaboratively with others in the agency or School.
 - Disregard for agency or academic policies without consultation.
 - Resistance to addressing concerns raised by the other party or the School.
 - Failure to model or uphold ethical social work practice.
 3. Supervision and Learning Environment
 - Inconsistent or inadequate supervision that limits learning opportunities.
 - Avoidance of feedback or reflection, or a defensive response to constructive feedback.
 - Lack of engagement in the supervision process or Learning Objectives.
 - Failure to address or adjust problematic behaviour despite prior discussions.

A decision to terminate a field placement and prematurely withdraw from the course should include sending a written letter to the field education coordinator requesting termination of the field placement and notifying the Registrar's Office of their withdrawal from the course.

GUIDELINES FOR STUDENTS WHO WISH TO APPEAL A DECISION MADE IN RELATION TO A FIELD PLACEMENT

This policy refers to decisions that have a significant impact on students' well-being as learners. Although students are expected to participate fully in selecting their field placement, in negotiating the Learning Contract and in the actual learning process, they may not be aware of all the factors involved when making decisions. This appeal process allows for the decisions to be reviewed and, when appropriate, changed. Examples of decisions that a student may appeal are:

- the selection of a field placement;
- some of the conditions included or missing in the Learning Contract;
- the grade assigned by the faculty liaison.

Steps To Be Followed:

1. The student needs to clearly identify the problem or need and develop recommendations for changes that would help to resolve the problem.
2. The student meets with the agency field supervisor when the problem is related to the conditions of the field placement. The purpose of the meeting is to present the problem or the need and to discuss possible solutions.
 - a. If the problem is not resolved with the field supervisor, the student meets with the faculty liaison to discuss the concerns. The student and faculty liaison will review the situation and explore options.

- b. A meeting between the faculty liaison and field supervisor is the next step in making desirable changes to enhance the student learning or to negotiate changes in grading.
3. The student meets with the field education coordinator when the concern is related to the choice of field placement. The purpose of the meeting is to present the problem or the need and to discuss possible solutions.
4. If the student has worked through the previous steps and is not satisfied with the results obtained, then they may request a review of the situation with the field education coordinator.
5. If the student is not satisfied with the results of the review with the field education coordinator, they may appeal the "decision" to the director of the School of Social Work. Students will need to state their request in writing, identifying the decision or problem that needs to be reviewed by the School of Social Work.
6. Students appealing a final grade in the course may follow the university's Appeal Process, available at: <https://www.stu.ca/socialwork/policies/>

TOOLS FOR USE IN DOCUMENTING LEARNING

Included in this section are different examples of writing guidelines for use in documenting the students' work and drawing out their learnings. The student's individual learning style and the goal to be achieved are factors that will determine which tool is best suited for task. The following pages contain several tools:

Guide to Journal Writing

1. Recall and describe a particular practice situation which you would like to reflect further on; making sure to identify all important factors i.e. interpersonal, physical, cultural, economic, and political.
2. What impact did this situation have on you i.e. identify your feelings, thoughts, assumptions regarding the situation.
3. Identify and label what you did (professional response).
4. Identify what impact you think your response had on the practice situation.
5. What knowledge do you have that might help you to explain or analyse this practice situation i.e. (theory, concepts and life experience).
6. Based on this analysis, identify the response(s) which would be helpful in this situation (i.e. where do you go from here).

Daily Learning Journal

1. What did you experience?
 - a. What are your thoughts and feelings about this subject matter?
 - b. What have you learned from this experience?
 - c. What theories or concepts can you apply to this experience?
2. Given what you have learned, what are some of the things that you want to do tomorrow to apply what you have learned?

Reflection Tool

What? What stood out for you during your recent field placement experience? Describe the key event, or moment in a conversation, a person's behaviour, etc.
So What? 1. Emotional Impact?	2. Why do you think you had this emotional response?
3. What assumptions might you be making in this situation? What beliefs and values were touched off by this situation? Assumptions: Beliefs, values:	4. Write about the meaning this has for you. Some helpful questions might be: Do you think your values might be clouding your interpretation of the situation? If so, how? Have you been affected by similar situations in the same way? How have you responded?
6. Is it important for you to change your behaviour? Why? Or is it important for you to consciously try to use this behaviour again in practice situations.

Now What? 6. Based on the learning from this field experience what other behaviours might you consider in response to future practice situations? What questions remain for you to explore? What would be important to explore with your field supervisor during supervision?	7. What might stop you from engaging in these new behaviours?
Objectives
What Questions Remain?
